Representative Matters

- Sparkman v. Community Health Network, 213 N.E.3d 1085 (Ind. Ct. App. 2023), trans. Denied.

Obtained a unanimous Opinion from the Medical Review Panel in favor of the defendant hospital in a case involving burns sustained during surgery. Successfully obtained summary judgment from the trial court, which was unanimously upheld by the Indiana Court of Appeals. Both courts agreed that the res ipsa loquitur exception did not apply to excuse the requirement for expert testimony refuting the Panel Opinion.

- Hayes v. Sturtevant, et al., 49D05-2010-CT-035840

Obtained a unanimous Opinion from the Medical Review Panel in favor of the defendant physician. Moved for summary judgment, which plaintiff opposed with the affidavit of an independent expert. Deposed the expert, and successfully used the expert's own deposition testimony against him to negate his affidavit testimony and obtain summary judgment in favor of the defendant physician.

- In addition, Beau has successfully obtained dozens of unanimous Opinions from Medical Review Panels for his clients, including general surgeons, neurosurgeons, orthopedic surgeons, cardiologists, pulmonologists, OB-GYNs, oncologists, intensivists, hospitalists, and family medicine physicians, nurse practitioners, and physician assistants, as well as nurses, emergency room staff, and radiology staff.
